

OWN KARMA

VFX Creative Blueprint

5 Cinematic Concepts — Organised & Detailed

*"Not worn to be seen.
Worn to stand correctly."*

CONTENTS

|    |                                                                                         |
|----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 01 | What Is Own Karma?The Axis Through All Realms · 8 realms · ~42 seconds       |
| 02 | Divine — The BlueprintCosmic reversal · Human consciousness · ~60–75 seconds |
| 03 | Karma's EyeDesert maze · Escher geometry · The Eye of Karma                  |
| 04 | Destiny — The Walls You Call Reality4 psychological walls · Calm destruction |
| 05 | Broken Hourglass — The Prison of TimeTime as container · Existential break   |

VISUAL REFERENCE: 2001: A Space Odyssey x Interstellar x Vedic Cosmology x Architectural Precision

CONCEPT 01

What Is Own Karma?

The Axis Through All Realms

■ CORE VFX RULE

|            |                                                                                                                     |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Constant   | A thin vertical golden axis runs through the human silhouette — invisible at first. Extends infinitely up and down. |
| Variable   | Every realm (void, netherworld, desert, water, forest, lava, ice, galaxy) forms and dissolves around this axis.     |
| Philosophy | Alignment distorts chaos. The closer to alignment, the slower reality moves.                                        |

■ TIMELINE BREAKDOWN (~42 seconds, no cuts)

|        |                                                                                                                                                           |
|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 0–4s   | VOID BIRTH — Black. A faint golden vertical line appears. Camera pushes forward. Tiny human silhouette aligns with axis. Low sub-bass vibration.          |
| 4–8s   | NETHERWORLD — Ground cracks beneath the axis. Dark mist rises. Obsidian terrain grows outward from feet. Human is still. World builds itself around them. |
| 8–12s  | DESERT TRANSITION — Obsidian dissolves into sand mid-frame. Heat waves distort air. Sand storms curve around the axis like magnetic fields.               |
| 12–16s | WATER IMPOSSIBILITY — Desert liquefies into water without cutting. Gravity flips. Water rotates 360 around axis. Human does not swim — just stands.       |
| 16–20s | FOREST GROWTH — Water evaporates upward. Trees grow rapidly. Roots never touch the human. Leaves freeze mid-air near the axis.                            |
| 20–24s | LAVA & PRESSURE — Forest chars instantly. Lava erupts but arcs away from axis like repelled. Nothing touches the human.                                   |
| 24–28s | ICE SHATTER — Lava flash-freezes mid-air. Crystals expand outward. Sound drops to silence. World feels paused. Human remains upright.                     |
| 28–33s | GALAXY REVEAL — Ice shatters into stars. Camera pulls back. All realms were inside a rotating cosmic structure. Human is microscopic yet still aligned.   |
| 33–38s | SUN IGNITION — A small golden sun ignites above. Sudarshan-like circular geometry forms. Mathematical, precise, slow.                                     |
| 38–42s | LOCK — Everything stops. Absolute silence. Axis, eye geometry, and circular law align perfectly. OWN KARMA appears. Small. Centered.                      |

■ HIDDEN DETAIL (Cult Psychology)

In every realm, faintly etched in the environment — OWN KARMA appears as texture: in sand patterns, lava cracks, ice fractures, star constellations. Not readable at first glance. When paused — it is there. That makes people rewatch.

FINAL LINE (whispered):

Not worn to be seen. Worn to stand correctly.

CONCEPT 02

Divine — The Blueprint

"The universe exists because you observe it."

■ CORE PHILOSOPHY

|                 |                                                                                       |
|-----------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Most brands say | You are small in the universe.                                                        |
| OWN KARMA says  | The universe exists because you observe it. Human existence is older than the galaxy. |

■ TIMELINE BREAKDOWN (60–75 seconds)

|        |                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|--------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 0–5s   | THE FALSE SCALE — Black void. A massive hyper-realistic galaxy slowly rotates. Camera pulls back. Text (very small): 'Infinite.'                                                                           |
| 5–10s  | HUMAN SCALE SHIFT — A tiny human silhouette appears in the foreground. The galaxy is rotating inside the outline of the human chest. Text: 'Or so you thought.'                                            |
| 10–18s | THE BLUEPRINT REVEALS — Golden geometric lines form over the human. Spine becomes the axis. Arms extend into cosmic vectors. Stars align to the blueprint grid. Text: 'Before stars, there was structure.' |
| 18–25s | REVERSAL — Stars collapse inward into points of light that become neural networks inside the human head. Galaxy becomes synaptic energy. Text: 'Existence precedes expansion.'                             |
| 25–35s | INFINITE GALAXY CLOTH — Blueprint lines dissolve into fabric threads shimmering like constellations. Hoodie forms organically — not stitched, not placed. Becoming.                                        |
| 35–45s | SCALE DESTROYED — Camera pulls back. Human is now larger than the galaxy. Galaxies orbit them — not in ego, in inevitability. Spine glows faintly.                                                         |
| 45–55s | ABSOLUTE SILENCE — Everything stops. Galaxy fades. No face. No flex. Just presence. Text: 'You are not inside the universe. The universe is inside your alignment.'                                        |
| 55–60s | THE LAW — OWN KARMA appears. Very small. Centered. No dramatic music. Just breath. Final line: 'Worn to remember what came first.'                                                                         |

■ HIDDEN DETAIL

In the galaxy clusters, if paused, the stars form faint OWN KARMA lettering. Hidden. Not readable immediately. Creates rewatch behaviour and cult energy.

CONCEPT 03

Karma's Eye

"The staircase is not leading upward. It is folding inward."

CORE CONCEPT

|            |                                                                                                                                    |
|------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Theme      | Infinite staircase · Desert + fractured pyramids · Maze structure · Central Eye · One human journeying toward awareness            |
| Twist      | The staircase appears to rise — but when camera flips perspective, it is descending inward. The climb is inward.                   |
| Visual Ref | Escher meets ancient architecture. Desert-coloured, not abstract. Staircases fold in all directions — up, sideways, down, looping. |

TIMELINE BREAKDOWN

|        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|--------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 0–5s   | THE DESERT — Wide cinematic shot. Endless desert. Heat distortion. Fractured pyramids (not Egyptian cliché — unfinished monuments). Single human silhouette. Wind only. Text: 'Every journey begins in illusion.' |
| 5–12s  | THE MAZE REVEALS — Sand shifts. Geometric lines emerge from beneath. Ground morphs into impossible staircase maze. Sand cascades down stair edges. Pyramids connected by staircase bridges. Human takes one step. |
| 12–20s | THE INFINITE ASCENT — Camera rotates. Staircase forms a spiral with a faint glowing Eye at its centre. The Eye does not move — the maze rotates around it. Staircase actually descends inward.                    |
| 20–30s | SCALE BREAK — Human becomes smaller. Maze grows enormous. Camera pulls back to reveal the entire desert maze exists inside the outline of an Eye.                                                                 |
| 30–40s | TRANSFORMATION — Maze dissolves into blueprint lines. Sand turns into threads. Staircase pattern forms on fabric. Eye locks into hoodie design. Human stands wearing it — still, no pose.                         |

HOODIE DESIGN — THREE LEVELS OF DEPTH

|               |                                                                                                                   |
|---------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Distance view | Looks like a maze                                                                                                 |
| Close-up view | A spiral staircase                                                                                                |
| In motion     | Feels alive                                                                                                       |
| Texture       | Architectural, not psychedelic. Desert-toned with subtle gold highlights. Slightly distressed like ancient stone. |
| The Eye       | Minimal. Geometric. Not a literal eyeball. Calm and mathematical.                                                 |

HIDDEN DETAIL

If someone stares at the maze long enough, they realise the staircase subtly spells OWN KARMA inside the architecture. Not obvious. Discovered. That creates cult obsession.

CONCEPT 04

Destiny

"The Walls You Call Reality"

■ CORE PHILOSOPHY

|           |                                                                                                                                 |
|-----------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Reframe   | Destiny is not something you reach. It is something you remove. You are not building your future. You are breaking your prison. |
| The Walls | The walls are not concrete. They are psychological.                                                                             |

■ VISUAL TONE RULES

|                             |                                                    |
|-----------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|
| MUST NOT FEEL               | MUST FEEL                                          |
| Angry · Violent · Explosive | Controlled · Inevitable · Adult · Calm Destruction |

■ THE FOUR WALLS (Timeline)

|        |                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 0–5s   | WALL 1: OPINION — A massive wall made of faint human faces and whispers. Text etched across: 'What will they think?' / 'Be realistic.' / 'That's not you.' Wind and murmurs. Human does not move.         |
| 5–12s  | THE PRESSURE — Human touches wall with one hand (not aggressive — intentional). Silent cracks form. Whispers stop. Text: 'Every destiny begins with disagreement.'                                        |
| 12–18s | WALL 2: COMFORT — Smoother, warmer, glowing wall. 'Later.' / 'You deserve rest.' / 'It's fine.' Looks inviting. Human hesitates — then steps forward. Wall shatters into dust.                            |
| 18–25s | WALL 3: TIME — A cracked hourglass wall. Sand flows upward. 'Not now.' / 'Someday.' / 'When I'm ready.' Human walks through. Glass fractures around their body. Text: 'Time is not your enemy. Delay is.' |
| 25–35s | WALL 4: SELF — A distorted mirror shows a smaller, hunched, doubtful self. Silence. Human stares, then steps through. Mirror shatters into light fragments that become geometric blueprint lines.         |
| 35–45s | DESTINY REVEALED — Walls are gone. Space is open. Human has not grown — same size. The only difference: nothing blocks them anymore.                                                                      |

■ HOODIE INTEGRATION

When the walls shatter they dissolve into staircase lines, eye geometry, and blueprint threads that form the hoodie pattern. The cracks of the walls become the design lines. The garment is made from what was broken. You don't wear fashion — you wear what you broke through.

ONE LINE THAT DEFINES THIS DROP:

Break what contains you.

CONCEPT 05

Broken Hourglass

"The Prison of Time"

■ CORE PHILOSOPHY

|                |                                                                                                                                           |
|----------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Common belief  | Time moves.                                                                                                                               |
| OWN KARMA says | Time contains you — until you decide to break it. Time is not the enemy. Time is a frame. Destiny begins when you step outside the frame. |

■ TIMELINE BREAKDOWN (~55 seconds)

|        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|--------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 0–6s   | THE RELIC — Black void. A large antique hourglass floats. Old brass frame. Scratched glass. Dust suspended. No sand movement. Inside the hourglass: a tiny human silhouette, standing upright and still.                                          |
| 6–12s  | THE CONTAINMENT — Human trapped inside lower chamber. Sand falls oppressively slowly — floats past them without hitting. Time is falling. They are not moving.                                                                                    |
| 12–18s | THE REALIZATION — Human looks upward. Sand stops mid-air. Silence. They place one hand against the glass wall. Cracks form — not violent, like geometry lines. Blueprint fractures.                                                               |
| 18–25s | THE BREAK — Human pushes through. Glass shatters in slow motion into crystalline shards. Sand bursts outward transforming mid-air into: planets, birds, human silhouettes, stars, staircases, waves, forest branches. Everything time was hiding. |
| 25–35s | EXPANSION — Floating elements rotate slowly around the human. Subtle golden blueprint lines connect everything. Text: 'When you break time... you experience life.'                                                                               |
| 35–45s | REORGANIZATION — Shards align into geometric patterns, staircase structures, eye geometry. Broken hourglass frame transforms into fabric structure. Hoodie forms — constructed from the collapse of time.                                         |
| 45–55s | THE STILLNESS — Human stands upright wearing the hoodie. Hourglass frame floats behind — hollow. No sand. No ticking. Universe rotates slowly. Human does not. Text: 'Time was never infinite. You are.'                                          |

■ HOODIE TEXTURE

- ◆ Fractured glass veins
- ◆ Vintage brass etching patterns
- ◆ Subtle floating sand grain textures
- ◆ Tiny embedded cosmic specks
- ◆ Blueprint crack lines across fabric

When light hits the hoodie, it subtly reflects like shattered crystal. Not shiny. Subtle. Hidden depth.

■ HIDDEN DETAIL

Inside the shattered glass shards, if paused, faint OWN KARMA inscriptions are visible — as if time was secretly recording everything. Not obvious. Discovered. That creates obsession.

FINAL LINE:

Break the frame.

UNIVERSAL PRODUCTION RULE

NEVER show the product until:

1. Awareness has been established
2. Breaking has been witnessed
3. Time / realm collapse has occurred

The product must feel inevitable — not introduced.

---

THE OWN KARMA FORMULA

Axis · Blueprint · Realms · Hidden Text · Stillness · Inevitability

2001: A Space Odyssey x Interstellar x Vedic Cosmology x Architectural Precision

---

OWN KARMA

Black. Silence. End.